Project Description

In the fall of 2010 the Wyoming Department of Transportation awarded the third and final project of the Sybille Creek section of Hwy 34 to Oftedal Construction, Inc. Oftedal had completed the first section in 2002, the second in 2005, and now the third section in 2012, for a total of 20 miles that have been fully reconstructed by Oftedal crews in Sybille Canyon.

The latest project consisted of milling, grading, drainage work, bridge rehab' construction of 3 precast walls, placing crushed base, and asphalt paving. The project was originally scheduled by WYDOT to be complete by October 2012, however Oftedal chose to complete the vast majority of the work in the 2011 construction season, leaving such items as seeding, chip seal and some fencing to be completed by 2012

The majority of work in this section, like the first two, was the excavation. 400,000 cy of material had to be moved which included 200,000 cy of material to be drilled and blasted. Oftedal completed the project on time and accident free.
